

The Real McCoy stands up

By Dennis Fuller

Beautiful, sunny skies greeted golfers at Emerald Golf Club for a stableford event as the last hurrah for the year. Brian McCoy (27) set out to spoil the party of others to waltz in with another whopping score of 44 points to win C Grade and over-all. I think he might be like a mud running horse as he does good stuff with the greens being a little bit ore than holding. If only Excalibur still had his magic powers to lop the top off his 27?

The most unlucky golfer for the day was Leigh Morison (16) whose 43 points were good enough to win B Grade but still not good enough for the top bikkies. Poor bugger, last week it was Rod Ward pinching his loot and this year it was Brian. Probably karma for refusing to play foursomes last Wednesday at OFG?

Captain, Ross Martin (12) came in with 40 points to top the A Grade floggers.

There were many other good scores including Brendan White's 42, and 40s for Ian Cranston, Stuart Courtney and Ian Scott, and 38 for Mark Johnson and David Mackey. What kind of comp is this when 37 points is not good enough for a ball?

Peter Stevens won the longest drive on the 1st, Darryl White was nearest the pin on the 12th, Brendan White on the 13th and Mark Starick was nearest after two shots on the 17th and he also picked up the pro pin cash on the 18th. Mr Starick was last seen making sure that his winnings were well spent.

The ladies' comp saw Davina Aitken sail away for yet another win from an unlucky Daphne Harvey one point back. Davina has become almost unstoppable in the sheelahs' comp and maybe she should be handicapped with a tighter skirt to slow her down a bit.

Wednesday's Obviously Flat Golf (OFG) was a 4BBB event. The clear winners with 50 points were Travis Broadway (13) and Riley Stevens (9) from Jeff Marsh and Leigh Morison on 45.

Next week, the first of 2012, will be a stableford event which will give those who have let things get away from them over the festive season, a gentle beginning to the year.
