

Would the Real Brian McCoy Please Stand Up!!!

By Dennis Fuller 24-12-2011

Well, Mr McCoy(28) , like a serpent straight from hibernation, decided that the sun was his thing and he kicked the living shit out of the course and all those who sail in her. By the time he strode into the final dock he had amassed forty bloody six bloody points. 23 on each 9 to head the field home by heaps and to absolutely flog the crap out of those C Graders thus assembled. He was most modest in his acceptance speech but left all those collected in little doubt that there was more to follow in the ensuing weeks. Time alone will tell on that particular one.

A Grade was won by Ken Hill on a countback from the Captain. A rare thing to beat a captain on a countback and it is an affirmation on the honesty of Captain Roscoe. Thought I had won and after my victory dance for those around I was brought back to land by a check on the addition made by Mr Jetslag Balfour. I had not checked because he is very accurate as a rule but it has been a hard last couple of months and he was a bit short of ram, so he is therefore forgiven. The powers that be did grant balls low enough for me to grab one as they are not completely rapt in seeing a bearded chap crying at this time in the year. Would be most untidy and Un-christmas-like!

B Grade was won by Mr Leroy Morison with 39 points who celebrated the with no fanfare and a modicum of modesty.

Of the great unwashed, Brendan White and Dave Harvey had 37, and Dennis Fuller and Jeffrey Marsh managed to scrape up 35 after a struggled and much pleading for mercy. I did hear that Rod Ward had 40 points but I am not sure that he is allowed to win the bickies or whether he has got time off for good behaviour. It was good to see Sir Geoffrey Isherwood back at the club because we do need some people of real quality to be added to the mix.

Brendan White was nearest the pin on the 12th (another loss to yours truly) bugged if I can read my own writing so I don't know who won on the 13th, Ryan Aitken was nearest the pin on the 17th after 2 shots and Hank Adams pocketed the pelf for the pro pin on the 18th. He did declare, before hitting that the cash was his.

The ladies comp was a done deal very early on in the piece with Stephanie Town blitzing the field. Mind you, she was a bit under the pump because she was having a chip at home before play and didn't quite hit the ball well enough. But well enough, in fact, to hit the frame of his/her practice net and clean up the window of hi/her garage. The day did not get much better although no further glass was shattered.

Wednesday's Obviously Flabbagasted Golf was a stableford event won by Dennis Fuller (13) with 39 points from Moss Fuller (17) and Mick Petrie (33) both on 38. I was intending to organise a foursomes event for next Wednesday but Sit Leroy Morison began to sob a little and chucked a tanty and I had to change my ideas, which obvious were wrong. We will now be playing a 4BBB event with drawn partners. So, all you members who are on holiday next week Be there for a hit off at 8.00am.!

The final (this time I have got it right) was played between Ryan Aitken and Peter Stevens. Stevo had to give him a stroke on 4 holes and Ryan jumped out to be 3 up after 4 holes but Stevo managed to peg him back to finally win 2/1. Congratulations to Peter and to Ryan for getting that far in that championship.

There is a rumour that Kenneth Hill walked down to the 11th tee but when he set up to drive he found that he had his umbrella in his hand. He had to trudge back up to get a club. His playing partners, Marsh and Whitlock did not make him drive with the umbrella. Great sportsmanship chaps but lacking in the comedy of the minute I thought!!

(all matters addressed in this report are not subject to court proceedings and the assessment of Father Christmas or the Easter bunny)

MERRY CHRISTMAS TO YOU ALL!!

My Christmas Tree

TAKES A FAIR BIT OF ORGANISING, BUT ONCE IT'S DONE THE EFFORT IS WELL WORTH WHILE

SCORES:

A GRADE:

K Hill ... 36

R Martin ... 36

D Fuller ... 35

B Balfour ... 34

T Broadway ... 34

G White ... 32

M Starick ... 32

R Ward ... 40

B GRADE:

L Morison ... 39
B White ... 37
D White ... 34
C Ferrari ... 32
H Adams ... 32
P Clowes ... 31
P Jones ... 29

Stephanie Town ... 23

C GRADE:

B McCoy ... 46
D Harvey ... 37
J Marsh ... 35
I Scott ... 34 Only wiped 5 holes!!!! I tipped he would win today but have been let down again!
D Jennings ... 34
D Aitken ... 30
P Rundle ... 29