The Café Marte Emerald Golf Club Plate was there for the taking last Saturday in beautiful conditions with no reasonable excuse for poor golf. There were, so I am told, many relatively pathetic excuses still proffered.

Teams of four were entered with the worst of the four scores dropped off. The winning team for the day, for the second year in a row, consisted of Leigh Morison 41 points, Con Whitlock 40, Ken Hill and Peter Clowes both on 34. They fell across the line with 116 points, one ahead of two other disappointed teams.

In equal second place were Jeff Marsh 42, Darryl White 38, Graham White 33, and Allan Ecclestone 30. Equal on 115 were Ian Scott 45, Ken Sumsion 35, Mike Litchfield 35 and Brian McCoy with 31.

The star of the day in the individual scoring department was Ian Scott, who rattled the scorers when he sidled in with 45 points to the rapturous applause of his team mates.

Others to hold their head high were Olinda's Grahan Collier and Andrew Cutting who had 43 while Jeff Marsh and Hank Adams managed 42.

The individual ladies gong was adjudged a draw with Rhonda Neilson and Daphne Yates sharing the spoils and the plaudits.

M Hayes had the longest drive on the 9th, B Cook was nearest the pin on the 4th, Brock Reynolds the 12th, J Ellerbock the 13th and Mark Starick was nearest the pin after two shots on the 17th. But the shot of the day belonged to 90 year old Olinda stalwart Dick Nielson who won the pro pin cash on the 18th. I did hear that he broke out into some kind of rap dance with some pretty exotic moves.

Wednesday's Omnipotent and Fascicle Golf (OFG) using OFG handicaps saw a runaway victory to Bob Kennedy (25) who has been threatening to blow the course apart for a while and showed that this day was his when he had 47 stableford points. In second place, once again, was Ken Sumsion (29) on 43.
